

September 29, 2016
RE J Oldham Holdings, Inc.

To whom it may concern,

We have had the pleasure of working with Jesse Oldham over the course of the last seven years. Over these years, Jesse and his associates completed a new home for us, performed several internal renovations and upgrades and completed several other minor projects. Management of all of these projects was absolutely first rate. Workmanship was exemplary. The sub contractors chosen by Jesse were all excellent, well supervised and completed their tasks in a timely manner. The few warranty issues on our new home were dealt with quickly and courteously. Inspections and permits were all handled promptly and without incident.

Invoices were always clear as to work done and cost of that work. In all of these seven years of our relationship with Jesse, we never had a serious problem understanding the billing for the work done or the nature of the work completed. Quotes were accurate and if there were overages, it was at our request for upgrades.

We have had a number of experiences with other builders and contractors over the years. Jesse is the only one we can say we are completely satisfied with. We have recommended him to several of our friends and they too have the same opinion of his work. They thank us for recommending him. As for the work itself, the end result has been a delight and the process to completion a pleasure. We have found Jesse to be honest, professional, fair in all business dealings and completely knowledgeable in all aspects of the home building and renovation business. It is also very obvious that the people he works with have complete respect for him.

Sincerely,

John Kadz and Johanne Perron